11. Consumer Duty

The Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) introduced the Consumer Duty as the 12th Principle of Business stating, 'a firm must act to deliver good outcomes for retail customers.' The Duty came into effect for new and existing regulated products or services from the 31st of July 2023 and will come into effect for closed book products on the 31st of July 2023.

The new Duty comprises of:

three cross-cutting rules:

- To act in good faith towards retail customers
- Avoid foreseeable harm to retail customers
- Enable and support retail customers to pursue their financial objectives

And;

Four consumer outcomes:

- Products and Services
- Price and Value
- Consumer Understanding
- Consumer Support

The Duty is intended to improve outcomes for all customers, and the FCA expect continuous monitoring of products, services, and relationships to identify where distinct groups of customers, such as customers with characteristics of vulnerability or customers who share protected characteristics (as defined by the Equality Act 2010 or equivalent legislation) get worse outcomes than other customers.

With the requirement to monitor outcomes for retail customers, it is likely Arnold Commercial Finance Limited will be further processing personal data to achieve this. Arnold Commercial Finance Limited understands that the Consumer Duty does not replace other requirements such as those set out within GDPR UK and the DPA 2018. Arnold Commercial Finance Limited have systems and controls in place to identify and support customers who display characteristics of vulnerability. Where a customer shares information that is considered 'Special Category Data' Arnold Commercial Finance Limited will always seek explicit consent from the data subject to process such information. For more information on how Arnold Commercial Finance Limited identifies and supports vulnerable customers please request a copy of our Vulnerable Customer Policy.

Arnold Commercial Finance Limited understands that with the introduction of the Consumer Duty, it is likely the level of communications issued by the business will increase. This will be necessary to support customers to understand the products and services offered by the business and to provide support to customer throughout the lifecycle of the relationship. The ICO in conjunction with the FCA have created further guidance for firms in relation to direct marketing and regulatory communications. PRIN 2A.5 within the FCA Handbook also sets out expectations on consumer understanding within electronic communications and the distribution of financial promotions.

Arnold Commercial Finance Limited does not use cookies to track and test customer engagement and actions throughout the customer journey or customer communications. Arnold Commercial Finance Limited understand that under the Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulation (PECR) opt-in consent is required when using these types of cookies.
